Dunwoody Nature Center releases summer concert schedule

The Dunwoody Nature Center announces the return of its summer concert series, kicking off on Saturday, May 17th with Danny Holiday. This year's concert series is being sponsored by Scuf Gaming and features an all new line up of bands that will keep the meadow jamming. Bring a chair, blanket, and picnic dinner and cool off with a rotating selection of hand crafted beers chosen for each show by the beer geeks at Moondog Growlers. The Nature Center concerts promise to be the best way to stay cool during the hot summer months under the trees of the newly restored meadow. This year's series also features a just completed performance stage in front of the old fireplace, built by the Nature Center's corporate partners at Oldcastle.

Guests to the concerts are encouraged to pack a picnic along with a blanket or a beach chair for the evening, but, with this lineup of bands there will probably be more dancing than sitting. A fun evening for the whole family - think of a Chastain concert without the drive or traffic - visitors are also welcome to cool off in Wildcat Creek during the hot summer nights or come inside our education building to learn more about the natural world.

As always, the Nature Center concerts are free to member families. Admission is $5 for non-member adults, $3 for non-member students, and free to children 3 and under. While the Nature Center concerts are always family friendly, this year's acts will feature a diverse group of musicians who demonstrate a range of musical talents that will appeal to the rocker in all of us. Please refer to the attached Concert Guide for full band bios, links to music, and a complete concert FAQ. High resolution photos from last summer's concerts are also available upon request.
